The Archives has access to a detailed list of court records and property records. Reach out to the Archives to have them search the full list of records.

Historical Note

Archibald F. Leonard was elected as Tarrant County's first County Clerk when the department was organized in 1850. The County Clerk serves as the record keeper for the county and maintains a retention schedule for the records. The size and responsibilities of the County Clerk's office continues to grow as Tarrant County grows. As of 2023, Tarrant County's population was over 2.1 million people, making it the third largest county in Texas. The County

Clerk states that their office is the second largest source of funds in the county and maintains records from 41 cities.

The County Clerk is responsible for a large variety of records filed with the county, including records concerning: vital statistics (e.g., marriages, births, deaths); property (e.g., deeds, liens, bills of sale); business (e.g., partnerships, incorporations, liquor licenses); probate, civil and criminal courts (e.g., judgements, bonds, writs); livestock (e.g., estray records, disease reports); fees collected by the county; elections; and taxes.
