First Responder Mental Health

Organization Name:	Badge of Life
Website:	http://www.badgeoflife.org
Notes:	Psychological Survival for Law Enforcement - The cornerstone of Badge of Life program is an entirely new approach to suicide prevention, called the "Emotional Self-Care Program"

Organization Name:	Code 9
Website:	https://www.thecode9project.org/the-code-9-project-s-h-a-r-e
Notes:	Making Mental Health a Priority for all First Responders and their Families. Our mission is to provide education, support and viable self-help tools to all Public Safety Personnel and their families for the purpose of managing and reducing the compressive stress effects, such as PTSD and suicide. Code 9 produced a movie called "Code 9 – Officer Needs Assistance" and provides information and training nationally

Organization Name:	CopLine
Contact No.:	800 267-5463
Notes:	CopLine - Officer's Lifeline - 800 267-5463 http://www.copline.org/ COPLINE is operational 24 hours a day / 7 day a week. Calls will be answered by a Peer Support Counselor. All calls and emails are strictly 100% CONFIDENTIAL. COPLINE is the first national law enforcement officers' hotline in the country that is manned by retired law enforcement officers. Retired law enforcement officers are trained in active listening and bring the knowledge and understanding of the many psychosocial stressors that officers go through both on and off the job. Active officers and or their families can call 24 hours and day 7 days a week and be assured that there is a trained retired officer on the other end of the line whether the caller is calling while on the duty or off. The line is strictly confidential and there is no fear of punitive repercussions from making the call.

Organization Name:	Texas Critical Incident Stress Management Network
Website:	https://www.hhs.texas.gov/about/process-improvement/improving-services-texans/behavioral-health-services/disaster-behavioral-health-services/texas-critical-incident-stress-management-network
Notes:	Most large police departments, Sheriff's Offices, Fire and EMS Agencies have Peer Support Teams and CISM teams that are available for critical incidents and disasters. In Texas, we have teams coordinated by region that are also available. Texas Department of State Health Services DSHS CISM Network has a listing of local CISM Teams. They are currently in the process of updating them with contact emails and phone numbers. These are dedicated, volunteer teams consisting of Police, Fire, EMS Peers, Chaplains and Mental Health Professionals that will respond to your agency and provide services like educational programs, debriefings, defusings and referrals.

Organization Name:	The Disaster Distress Helpline
Contact No.:	800-985-5990
Website:	https://www.samhsa.gov/find-help/disaster-distress-helpline
Notes:	24/7/365, national hotline dedicated to providing immediate crisis counseling for people who are experiencing emotional distress related to any natural or human-caused disaster. This toll-free, multilingual, and confidential crisis support service is available to all residents in the United States and its territories. Stress, anxiety, and depression are common reactions after a disaster. Call 1-800-985-5990 or text TalkWithUs to 66746 to connect with a trained crisis counselor.

Organization Name:	Safe Call Now
Contact No.:	206-459-3020 24-hour crisis referral
Website:	https://www.safecallnowusa.org/
Notes:	Safe Call Now is a resource for public safety employees to speak confidentially with officers, former law enforcement officers, public safety professionals and/or mental healthcare providers who are familiar with your line of work. Interaction may also be done through email. Although the service is based out of Washington State, first responders from all over the U.S. can utilize their services. Confidentiality is legislatively mandated. They also support other state hotlines (such as Serve & Protect.org Hotline in TN)

How Can You Help Someone Struggling Mentally?

You've spotted the signs, but now what? Atrium Health follows the Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) five-step action plan called ALGEE to help those who may be dealing with suicide, mental illness or substance use disorders. Here are the steps:
1. Assess for risk of suicide or harm - Some warning signs include threatening to hurt or kill oneself, seeking access to means to hurt or kill oneself, talking or writing about death and feeling hopeless.
2. Listen without judgement - MHFA teaches you to use verbal and nonverbal skills such as open body posture, comfortable eye contact and other strategies to take part in appropriate conversation.
3. Give reassurance and information - MHFA provides information and resources you can offer to someone to offer emotional support and practical help.
4. Encourage appropriate professional help - Types of professionals include primary care physicians, psychiatrists, social workers, counselors and certified peer specialists. Types of professional help include talk therapies, medication and other professional supports.
5. Encourage self-help and other support strategies - People with mental illness can support their own recovery and wellness through exercise, relaxation, meditation, participating in peer support groups and self-help books.
Seeking professional help can be overwhelming, but finding the right treatment can save someone's life
